

IJPSRR Reference Style/format - Vancouver Reference Style

Dear All,

International Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences Review and Research adheres to the Vancouver reference style. You can use this online reference tool at <https://www.citethisforme.com/vancouver> to help with writing correct citations. The updated PubMed has easy citation options direct.

Please note, from January 2021 (Volume 66, Issue 1) on wards we are moving to follow Vancouver citation style for a broad indexing coverage and progressing for more standard presentation of our references.

Vancouver Reference Style:

The Vancouver citation style is commonly used in medicine and science. Vancouver uses a numbered system.

Authors need to use In-text citation, references are indicated by the use of a number in the order of appearance in the article. Should be numbered consecutively in the order in which they are first mentioned in the text (not in alphabetic order). Identify references in text, tables, and legends by numerals in superscript (References should be referred to by number in superscript after the paragraph or after the specific text).

Reference style example for a reference from a journal article, refer the table of next page for other source of information.

1. Author (last name) AB (initials), Author BB, Title of Article, Journal name (full name or abbreviation), year;volume (issue):page numbers. Doi: xxxxxxxx; PMID: xxxxxxxx.

IJPSRR Reference formatting checklist:

1. Should be numbered consecutively in the order in which they are first mentioned in the text (not in alphabetic order).
2. You need to mention the references with numbers in the text as superscript without brackets.
3. In the references you need to mention the title of the articles/source of information.
4. You may include all authors names instead of et al., we do not have any limitations.
5. Include DOI and PMID details also at the end of the references.
